Your early
Christmas present

As we grow increasingly aware of our environmental footprint, each of us knows what everyday habits should be adopted to make an impact : turn off the lights when you leave the room, sort out your waste, reduce water consumption, etc. But have you ever thought about your Christmas waste ? Christmas is about sharing moments of happiness, exchanging with people we love, making lifelong memories together. Unfortunately, Christmas is also the period during which households produce the most waste. According to Eco-Emballages, each of us generates 1 kg of paper per day throughout the year, and 2 kg during year-end celebrations ! Every year, 20,000 tonnes of gift wraps are sold in France, the equivalent of 340,000 trees.

Do we really need to waste food and electricity, cut trees every year, or wrap our presents in twenty layers of wrapping paper for a successful Christmas ?

Do we really need to waste food and electricity, cut trees every year, or wrap our presents in twenty layers of wrapping paper for a successful Christmas ?

At HËKKO, we believe that the answer is no. That is why we have come up with an environmentally-friendly calendar to replace your traditional advent calendar. No more calendar to toss away after the 25th, no more useless figurines bound to end up in the garbage can. Choosing our calendar is choosing to :

Have fun and make your loved ones happy

Let the whole family enjoy the calendar's presents

Reduce the 20% share that paper and cardboard represent in the overall waste production

Discover environmentally-responsible products and items you have never heard of before

Who are we ?

HËKKO

Naming and design

HËKKO

The idea is to give a name at this object, to personalize it and humanize it. A short name, easy to memorize. By this way, HËKKO is a contraction between « Hello » and « Ecology ». The meaning is to welcome ecology in families houses. It sounds like a Scandinavian name and evokes something very clean and simple.

The intention is to illustrate two main notions : Christmas, obviously, and the recycling too. Its appearance seems like a fir tree composed with two arrows to evoke the re-use and the second life that customers can give it to this calendar.

HËKKO

Naming and design

THIS IS HËKKO !

The furniture is made in wood naturally. Its design is refined for a perfect match with many styles and then, with many families interiors.

The team

An association

We are a team of young individuals who, convinced and moved by the idea that every one of us can make a difference, created combined our strengths to create HËKKO. HËKKO is a not-for-profit association which mission is to introduce responsible habits into families' daily life.

What happens to your money after purchasing a calendar ?

Our team members earn nothing from the revenues made. Any money made is instead reinvested into the association to fund its activities. If all of our activities are covered, the surplus is used to further our environmental purpose, through donations to other associations and environmentally-driven activities.

This principle has been included in the article 2 of the association's statutes.

An advent calendar

Why ? How ?

What's in the calendar ?

Don't spoil the surprise, let yourself be delighted with unexpected gifts every day ! More seriously, our calendar includes three categories of products to please the whole family. Convenient and useful everyday objects and products, mouth-watering delicacies and items to help you grow your own plants, even indoors.

Because we believe sustainability entails social inclusion, we partnered with an association working towards social rehabilitation of former detainee to produce our calendars' structure.

A durable calendar frame made of wood comes with these items, so that you can reuse it every year or for whatever alternative purpose you might think of (spice drawers, haberdashery cabinet).

Our idea is to introduce you, your spouse, your parents and your children to a range of products and samples that you might not know exist, but which could help you reduce your ecological footprint. What we strive to do is to spark responsible behaviour in you, by giving you incentives to use certain products rather than more polluting equivalents.

With watering can and pot we help to make this opportunity a reality. And with fat balls for wild birds and insect magnifier we allow young and old to see all the beauty of the garden.

Finally with eight items (7,59€) linked to the urban agriculture we bet not just make to consume organic but also to act organic.

what is our market ?

The environment PESTEL analysis

Political Environment

France is a politically stable country. The current government says it encourages innovation, start-ups, entrepreneurship. The current political climate is also more aware of environmental problems and encourages solutions.

Economic Environment

According to specialists (Olivier Ezratty for instance), the economic environment for innovation in France is getting better every year. Moreover, according to France Info, "Never has the business of the Advent calendar worked so well : more than 50 million euros in turnover and a growth of 12%"

Social Environment

The society is more and more aware of environmental issues. Advent Calendars are also part of the culture of a lot of french people, traditionally. Although 60 to 70% of French people say they do not belong to a particular religion according to «Le Monde», they remain attached to traditions. For example, according to the Superior Council of Audiovisual, 80% of French think that Christmas is an important moment of the year, and 86% of them intend to celebrate it.

Technological

Our project does not use a very extended use of technology. Still, the technological environment in France is good and growing. According to the Deloitte Technology Fast 500 classement, french businesses and technologies in France are developing quite fast, thanks to start-up. We could easily have access to the computers and systems we need for our business.

Environment

Populations and policies in general are engaging more and more in this area. There is a growing importance of eco-friendliness and bio lifestyle in France. According to a Toluna survey, 64.9% of french people eat at least one environment-friendly product a month.

Legal

The current french government, through Macron, has stated that it wants to encourage entrepreneurship and wishes to materialize it in the legal field. Laws in France are not a barrier to starting a business.

Who is our competition ?

Positioning of advent calendars

Chocolate advent calendars and toy advent calendars are the most common alternatives. But advent calendars with beers and cosmetics are more similar to HËKKO's product. They are sold between 50 and 100 euros. According to our premium and ecological positioning, we can target a price in the upper 50-100 range.

One of our key differences is that our advent calendar is not gender or age targeted: it is made for the whole family. Beers and cosmetics, on the other hand, are particularly gendered products.

They are sold both in specialized stores (cosmetics stores, Nature & Découvertes...) and online.

Examples of existing advent calendars on the market

L'Occitane en Provence

24 cosmetics for women

Biotherm

58 euros

SWOT analysis

STRENGTHS

Our project is original and adapted to current social configurations with respect to the environment.

OPPORTUNITIES

As we mentioned above, the French are turning more and more towards environmentally friendly practices. Also, in recent years, the Advent Calendars are more and more interesting to adults, according to France Info. The tradition is evolving and now includes all types of adult products as well.

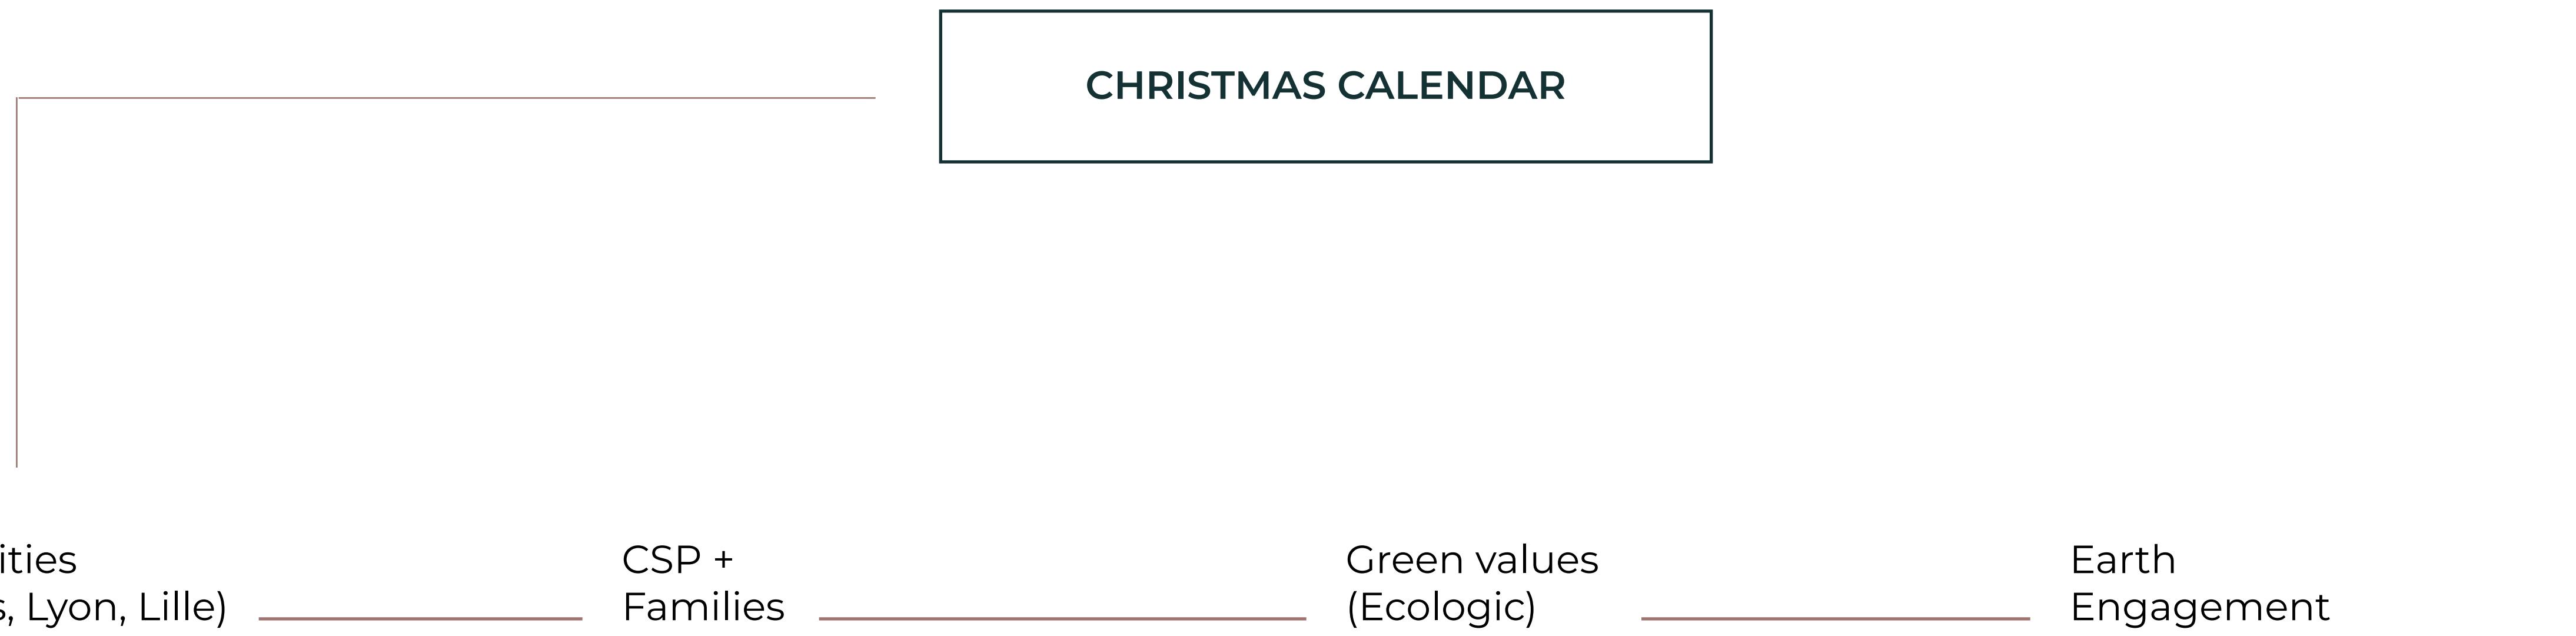

WEAKNESSES

In terms of proportionality, the target audience is limited. Our project may also not fit religious minorities.

THREATS

The offer during the Christmas period is very strong, so there are many possible substitutes for our project. Also, once the project is launched, others can quickly be inspired to offer similar products.

What is our segmentation ?

Why to focus on one target market ?

By aiming your marketing efforts at specific groups of consumers it makes the promotion, pricing, and distribution of your products and/or services easier and more cost-effective. It also makes digital advertising and promotion easier by the tools that Facebook, Instagram and Twitter offer for targeted advertising which will make to choose the right people online very simple and our communication strategy more efficient.

How are we going to sell it ?

Communication plan

Two ways to communicate on our project

PHYSICAL

Timeline : From November

Fairs in big cities.

Introducing our product directly to our targets, that is to say bobo families. Partnership with the companies that provided us with their products : going to their retail points and explaining the concept of our product directly to their regular clients of these brands (more receptive to our project). Going to schools and universities to provide our product (Hello SciencesPo Environnement).

ONLINE

Timeline : Launching the project one year before without explaining precisely what it is, just appearing as a new ecological media. And six months before, launching the product itself, starting to promote it as such. And from October, aggressive communication : at least one post/day.

Really strong presence on social networks. Necessity for a strong community management.

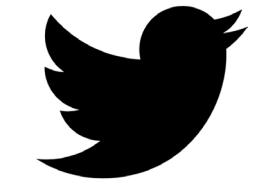

As a consequence, we expect our product to be mentioned in magazines (fashion, newspapers...).

There will be NO traditional advertising.

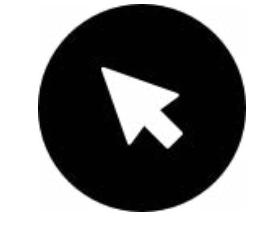

Communication plan

Facebook page, sharing our website's posts
Game to win our product through sharing posts and liking page...

Trying to create buzz by answering all the climate change skeptics' posts (taking example on "The Pope's" TV Show.

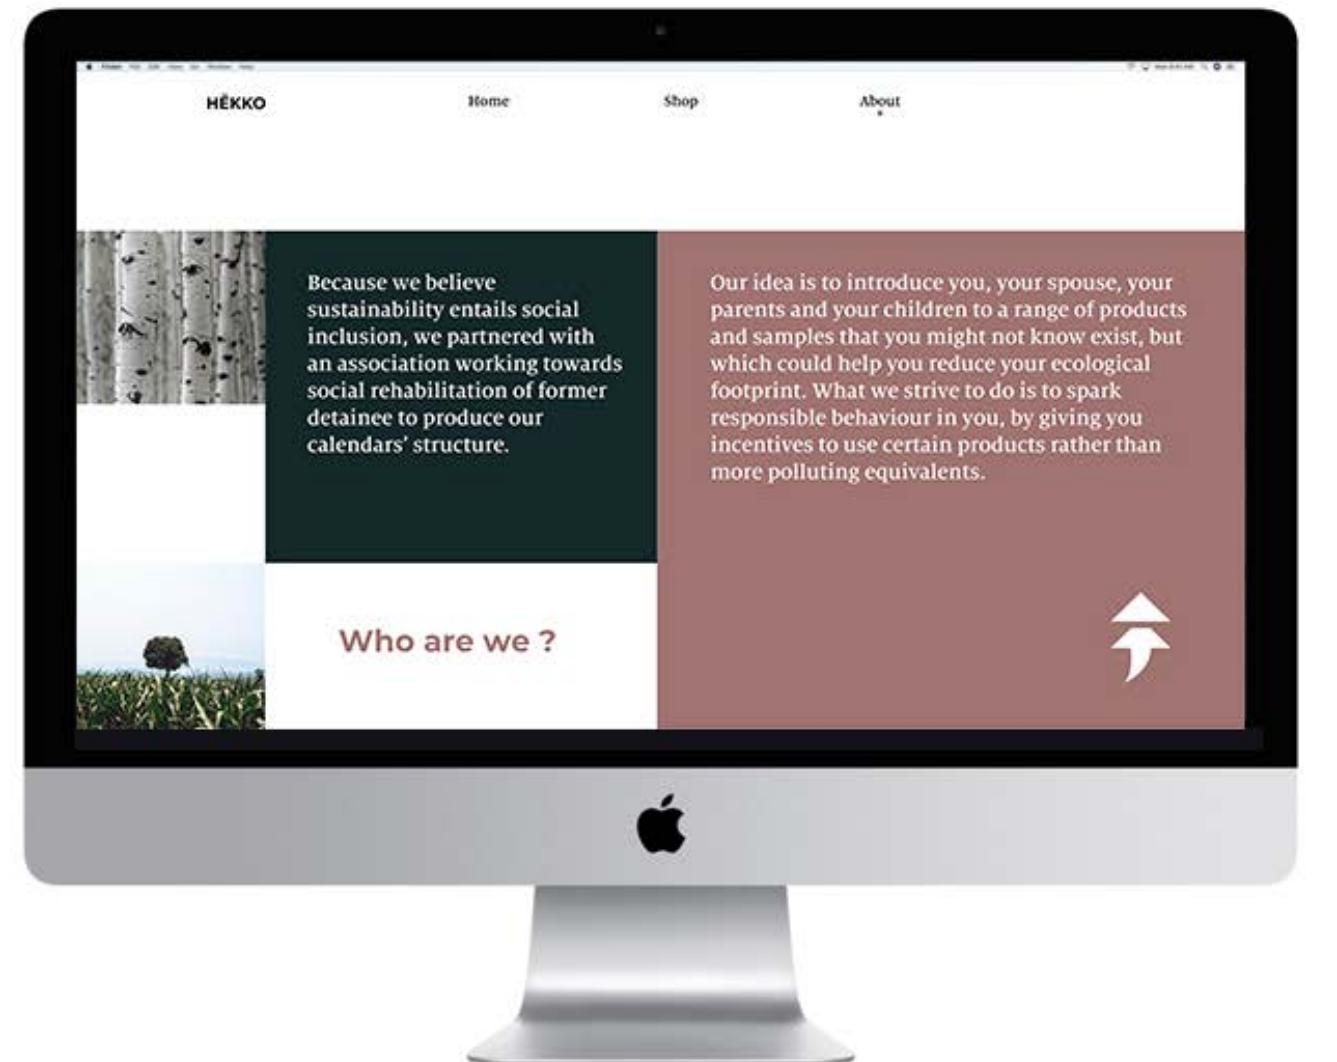

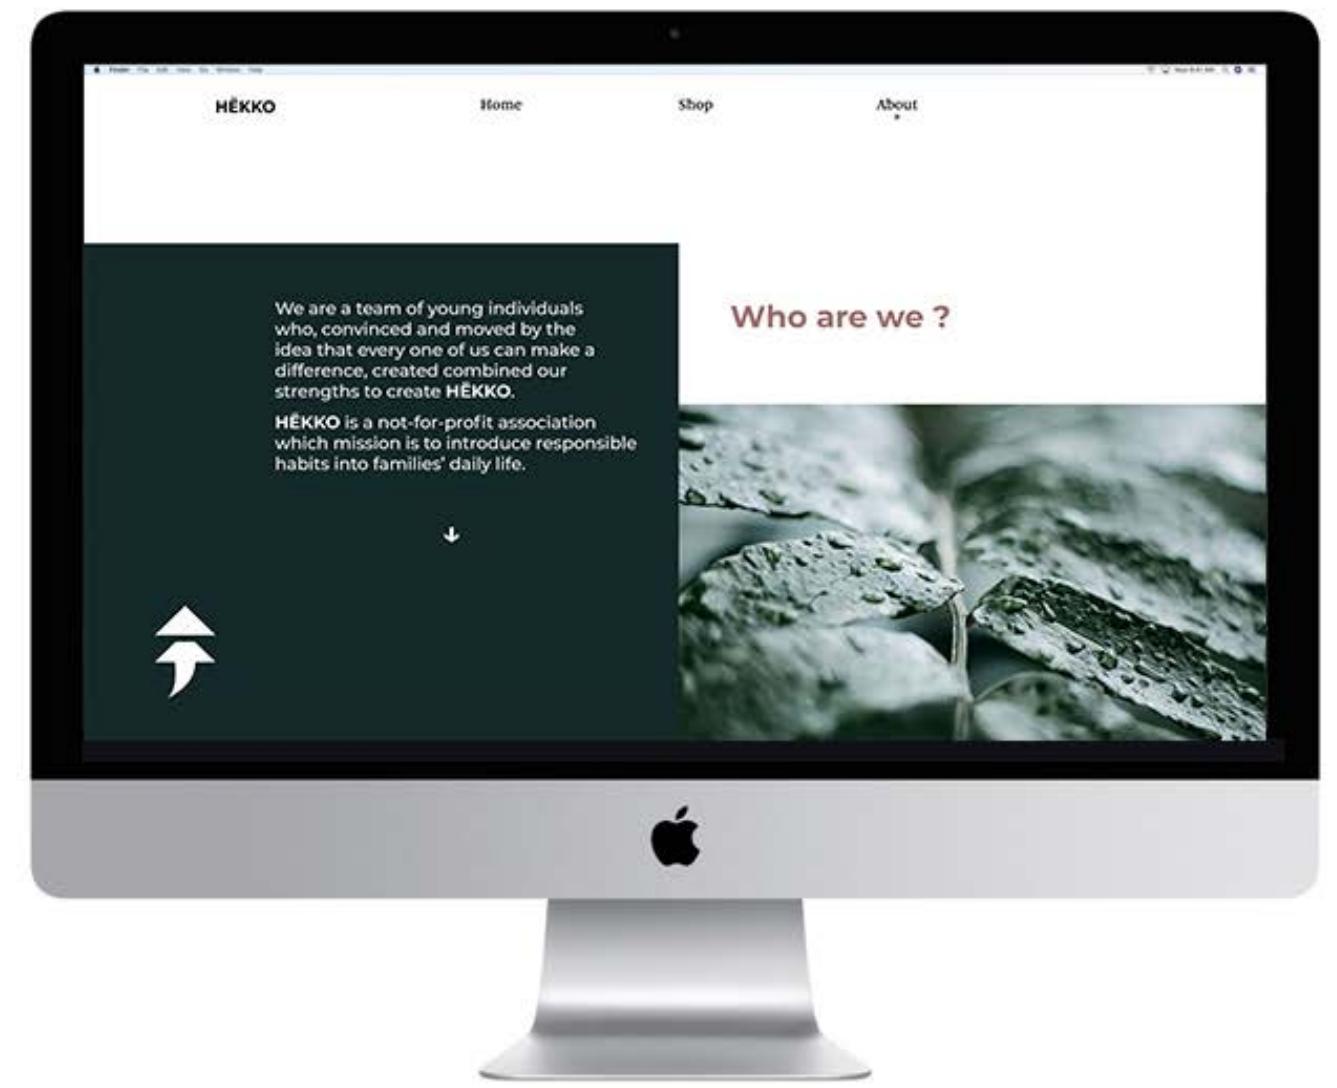

Clear, easy, clear tones, Scandinavian influence and user-friendly. Updating original content as well as sharing some of other websites' articles (and they would promote our product on their platform). Providing content for kids as well (games, quizzes on biodiversity and ecology).

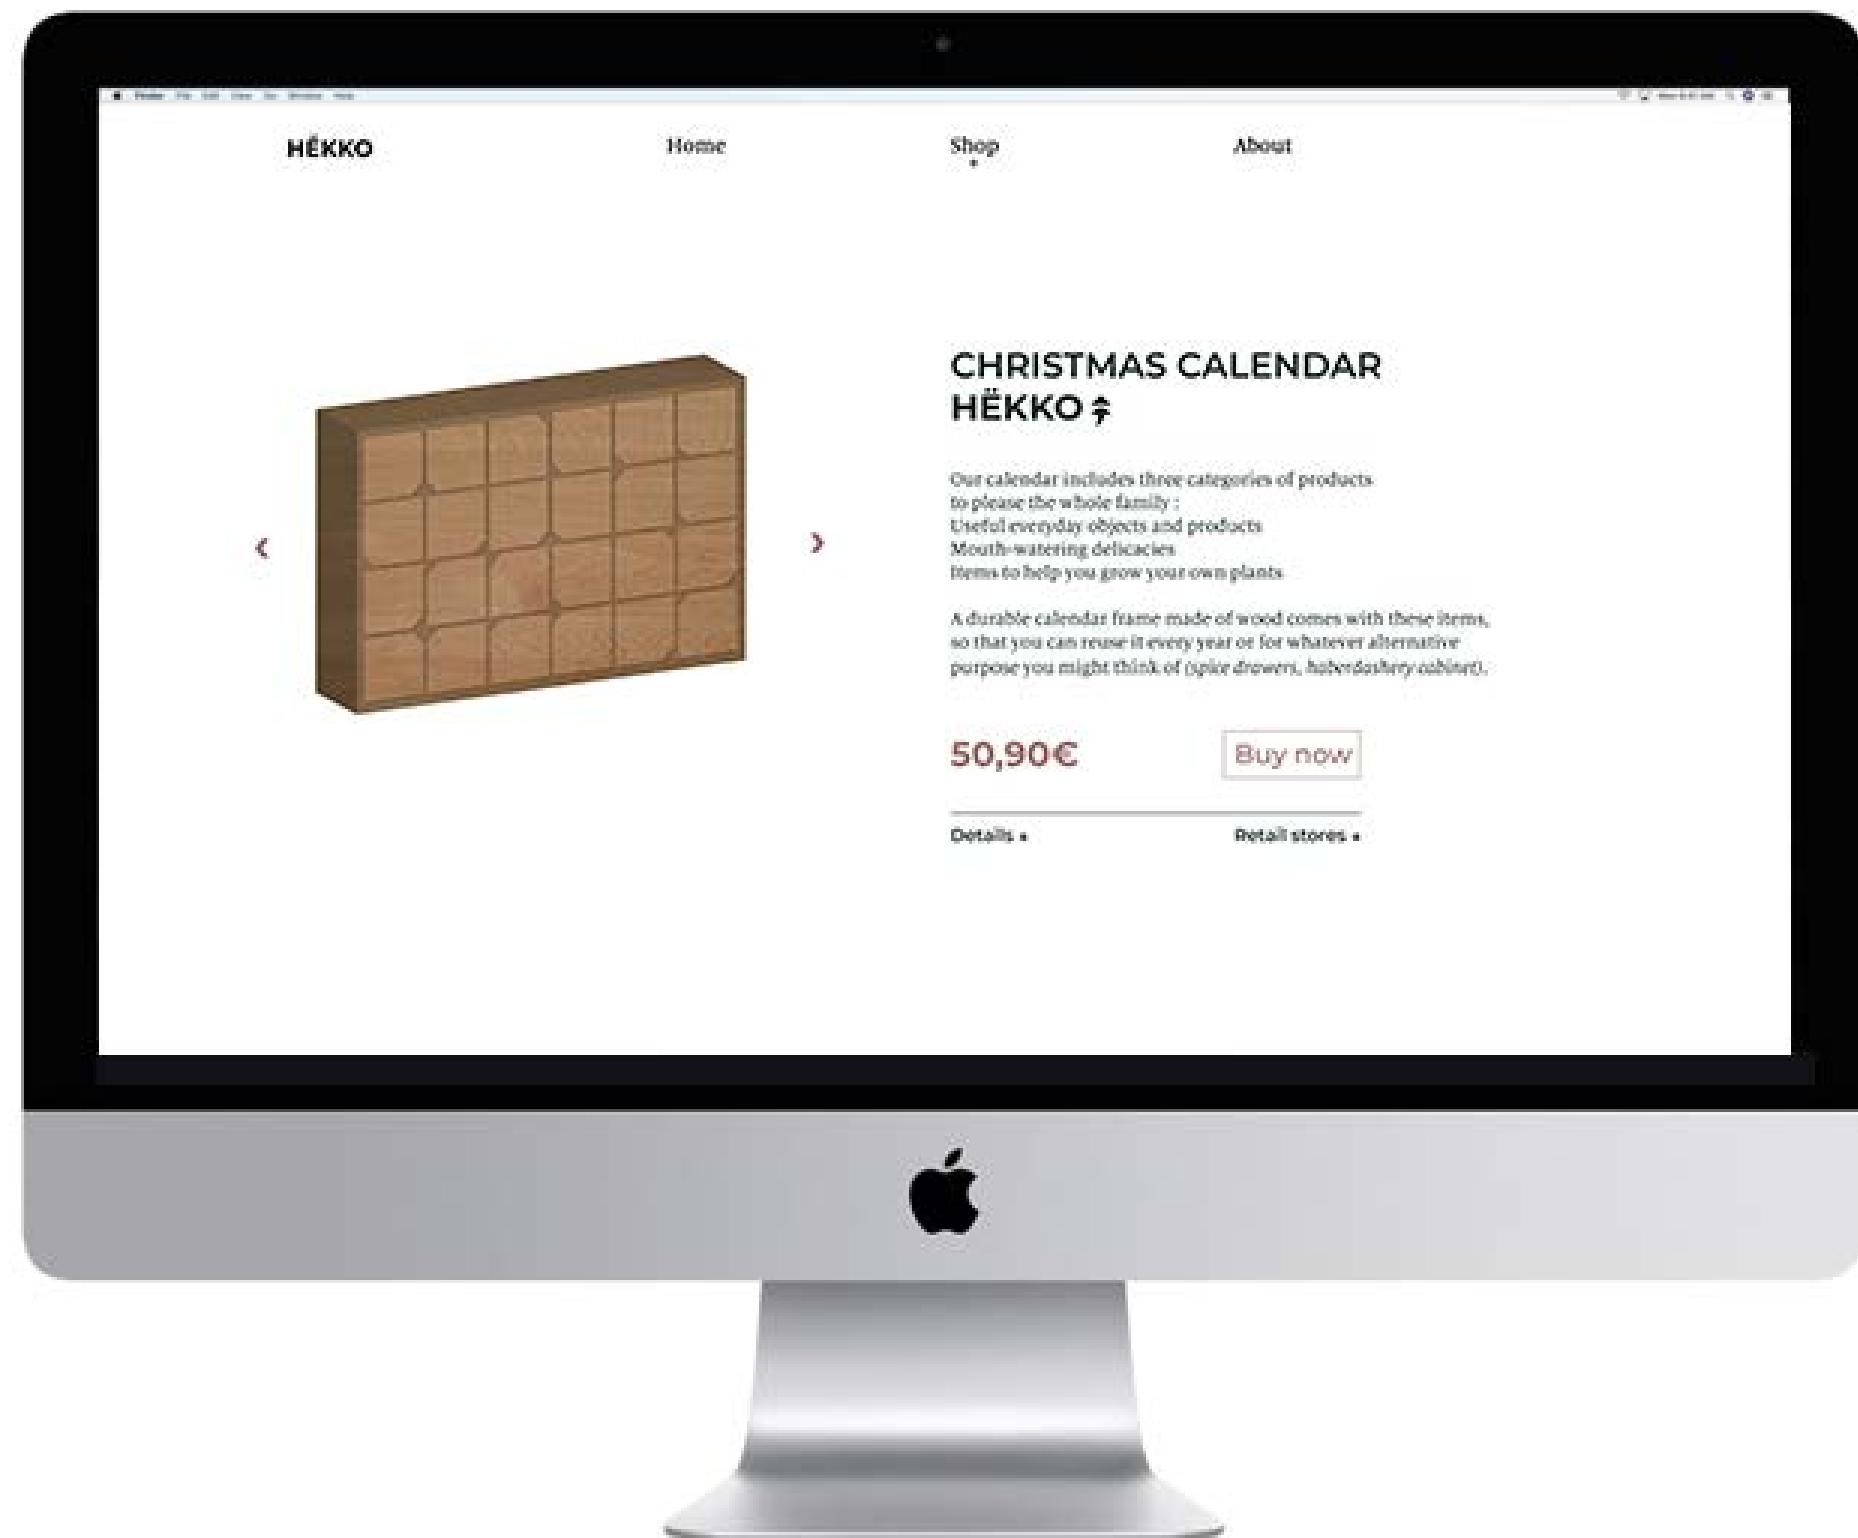

The screenshot shows the HËKKO website's homepage. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for "HËKKO", "Home", "Shop", and "About". Below the navigation, a main text block reads: "At HËKKO, we have come up with an environmentally-friendly calendar to replace your traditional advent calendar. No more calendar to toss away after the 25th, no more useless figurines bound to end up in the garbage can." To the right of this text is a small red upward-pointing arrow icon. The background of the page features a dark green color with a large, close-up image of pine tree branches. The page is divided into several sections: "WASTE REDUCTION" (with text about reducing paper and cardboard waste), "DISCOVERY" (with text about finding new products), "SHARING" (with text about family enjoyment), and "HËKKO" (represented by a stylized leaf icon). In the bottom right corner, there is an icon of an open gift box with a ribbon.

The legal aspects

We are an association

We chose to form an association to emphasise our ideals. We do not want to make financial profits out of this activity. The only profit we make is the satisfaction of feeling that we can make a difference in this ecological great transition. That's why the association status was the best way to achieve our goal.

In French law, an association is defined as : "a contract concluded between several people who decide to share their knowledge or their activity to realize a collective project in a purpose other than sharing profits."

Our association is a business association operating under French competition law. We are therefore able to produce Advent Calendars, sell them, and gather money without sharing any financial profit made.

Moreover, being an association allows us to avoid paying the business tax. We also benefit from the lowest consumption tax (TVA) as long as our annual sales are under 82.000€.

The association status also allows us to ask for a bank loan to begin our first year of activity.

We are an association

To officialize an association and be recognized by the State, we need to declare it. To set the association, we had to write the statutes of the association, which you can find on the next slide. Please note that the law requires that the statutes be written in French.

To complete the process and acquire legal and moral personality, we will have to declare our association on the following website : government service-public.fr.

The declaration receipt and a copy of the publication in the Journal Officiel will be kept by the association.

Our association's objectives and organisation are written and detailed in the Statutes, on the next slide.
